AAMA Granted ANSI Accreditation

The American Architectural Manufacturers Association (AAMA) has just announced that its air-water-structural product certification program has been granted accreditation by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) in accordance with ISO/IEC 17065-2012 Conformity assessment -- Requirements for bodies certifying products, processes and services.

The accreditation includes Doors and Windows (91.050.60). Accreditation to ISO/IEC 17065 confirms that the AAMA certification program conforms to the high procedural standards of these international requirements. These requirements are then passed down to the program participants and ensures that products certified by AAMA licensees meet the standards of the product certification labeling.
